Comment on Pharmac proposal to list a range of wound care products supplied by Smith & Nephew Limited

The proposal for a second range of wound products from another company has now been released by Pharmac as part of the process of rationalisation of wound products. This is a comprehensive list, as was the previous one, but it will be easier to comment on product availability when all the proposals are in. It remains to be seen whether some of the newer anti-microbial products, particularly the different delivery systems for PHMB (polyhexamethylene biguanide) are included as this is proving an extremely useful tool in the management of biofilms.
